Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some science early literacy tips:

- Gather toys and take a bath; what floats or sinks?
- Talk about the color blue. Go on a “blue” hunt through your house to find items that color.
- Let your child “paint” on the sidewalk with water and watch it evaporate.
- Talk about different kinds of dinosaurs and when they lived.
- Use food coloring to show your child how to make different colors.
Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some singing early literacy tips:

- Sing Twinkle Twinkle Little Star with your child.
- Sing “The Wheels on the Bus” with your child.
- Sing If You’re Happy and You Know It with your child.
- Have your child put on a show by sing songs to an audience of stuffed animals and dolls.
- Sing Twinkle Twinkle Little Star with your child.
Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some reading early literacy tips

- Read, sing, or say nursery rhymes from your childhood.

- Read a book about shapes.

- Read your child’s favorite book over and over again, as many times as they want.

- Read an informational book about something your child is interested in.

- Let your child see you reading; they will want to do what you’re doing!
Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some writing early literacy tips:

- Trace letters on a plate of flour, sugar, shaving cream, or other ingredient.
- String Cheerios on a pipe cleaner or piece of yarn to make a bracelet or necklace.
- Shape letters and numbers out of play-dough.
- Draw as many shapes as you can.
- Help your child trace their hand on paper and make it into an animal.
Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some math early literacy tips:

- Using Fruit Loops, Skittles, or M & M’s, make a pattern using the different colors. See if your child can guess and/or extend the pattern.

- Toss a ball back and forth with your child. Count as you go.

- Stack up blocks and count them.

- Help your child identify the numbers on a clock.

- Count as high as you can.
Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some playing early literacy tips:

• Do a puzzle together.
• Play “I Spy” when grocery shopping. Look for items that are red, or taste sweet, or are healthy to eat.
• Blow bubbles and have your child pop them.
• Play peek-a-boo.
• Play with Play-Doh.
Help your child learn to read by doing 7 simple activities throughout the week. Using math, science, reading, writing, singing, talking and play help to develop your child’s literacy. Here are some talking early literacy tips:

- Sing Twinkle Twinkle Little Star with your child.
- Sing “The Wheels on the Bus” with your child.
- Sing If You’re Happy and You Know It with your child.
- Have your child put on a show by sing songs to an audience of stuffed animals and dolls.
- Sing Twinkle Twinkle Little Star with your child.